VENIZELLOS NOT EAGER FOR WAR

Former Premier Watches Dardanelles Fighting Closely—Conditions Have Changed Attitude.

Cologne, June 18, via London, 12:02 p. m.—The Cologne Gazette has published a dispatch from Berlin concerning the outcome of the recent general elections in Greece in which Venizelos was elected premier. The paper states that Venizelos would be unconditionally in favor of armed intervention on the side of the allies even in case King Constantine should again entrust him with the conduct of affairs.

It is rather to be assumed that M. Venizelos, the Berlin dispatch goes on to say, is following the developments in the Dardanelles very closely; that he has noticed England's admission that progress there is possible only with great sacrifices and that the latest attempts to induce Bulgaria and Rumania to co-operate with the allies have failed. Conditions in this quarter of the world have changed since last spring.

Demands of Bulgaria.
Berlin, June 18, via London, 12:16 p. m.—Information reaching Berlin from Sofia is that Bulgaria, in her last communication to the powers in the matter of her participation in the war, refers to her expectation as part of her reward of the restitution of the territory she ceded to Rumania and of portions of Greek and Serbian Macedonia.

Bulgaria is described as demanding precise details as to what she will be given and the understanding here is that she is endeavoring to avoid a definite answer to the question, thus leaving the way open to further negotiation.

Excited Italian Finds Sword, Then Trouble.
An excited Italian recently rushed into a Santa Barbara, Cal., police station and, placing a shining two-edged sword on the lieutenant's desk, exclaimed, his eyes showing the terror he was laboring under:

KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRES

Made to Make Good.

"I finda thers in de woods. De blackhand, I tink, is guiltee." Then became one of the liveliest little mystery chases the police of that city have participated in for some time. The trail finally led them to the woods. Just outside the city, where one of the blue-coats had the Italian point out the spot where he found the sword. Not ten feet away from the spot lay the scabbard to which the sword belonged.

While the search was under way, Irving Cummings and Harold Lockwood, members of the cast of "The Lure of the Mask," came up all out of breath and asked if a sword had been found.

They explained that they had fought for film purposes only a duel near where the sword was found, and that, on departing, they had forgotten all about it. The explanation was accepted and Santa Barbara and the excited Italian resumed their ordinary occupations.

WORLD'S CHAMPION MOVIE FAN.
Mrs. Barbara Guentert of St. Louis is called by the "Post Dispatch" of that city "the world's champion movie fan," and with good reason.

It seems that Mrs. Guentert has missed only two evenings in over five years in seeing the picture show at the Fairy Theater on Easton Avenue.

Every night Mrs. Guentert and her little son are to be found in the same seats watching the pictures with as much interest as though it was their first experience. Together they have spent 1,800 evenings at the theater, have paid $180 in admissions, and have seen 9,000 different films.

Mrs. Guentert, it may be seen, can certainly lay claim to being a picture expert. When asked to name the players she thought the best, she mentioned only four, all of them famous, one of them being Pearl White.

Custom Hatching.

After a while, not long now, the sale of the day-old baby chick will cease, but some firms have developed an after sale, a sale of chicks that are from two or more weeks old, and there are parties more willing to buy a three or four-week-old chick, though they pay much more for it than to buy the day-old chick. These people are usually wanting to try some new breed or to build up their old flock. Chicks sold at ten days old often suit customers better than the day-old chick, and most buyers demanding the older chicks are nearly sure to raise the large per cent of all sent them. After ten days, if the stock be good, there is little danger of white diarrhea unless the buyer take them right into its germs.

June Chicks.

April is the greatest of the hatching months. May comes next, but many of the farm women do not want chicks coming out in June. In the great poultry plants hatching goes right on in June, and gets good results. The "sleepy sickness," is really, in the majority of cases, no more than the weakness from the direct rays of the sun or the big heat. The hen is really the best mother for the June chick, as it is nearly impossible to keep the brooder, unless set in the deep shade, cool enough for them. The mother must be tied in the shade and the chicks kept clean and allowed to scratch and run on clean grass during that time. After they are ten days old they are strong enough to seek shade. If allowed now to run away out where the earth is free from the disease germs usually about most poultry yards, and they grow fast—twice as fast as the chicks hatched in February, or even the chilly month of March. Chills stunt a chick often, and always makes its growth slow. Heat and good air develop all life fast.

YOUNG AND OLD IN GERMAN HOME KNIT SOCKS FOR MEN AT FRONT

A scene such as this is not at all uncommon in the countries stricken by the war. This picture was taken in one of the picturesque hamlets of the Spreewald on the outskirts of Berlin. The natives of this part of the country are descendants of a very ancient race, the Wenden. They still speak among themselves the ancient language of their ancestors. At a very early age they train their children in household industries. This custom now shows its real value to the country, for the young children together with the older women folk knit stockings for the men at the front.
